EXNER FARM BARN BURNED.

Fifty Tons Hay and Many Implements Destroyed—Cause of Fire Not Known.

Julius Exner, who lives on South street about a mile from the village, on what is known as the Miller farm, lost his large barn by fire Friday night and most of its contents. The barn was 75 by 40 feet and was situated a few rods below his house on the opposite side of the road. It contained about 50 tons of hay besides wagons, sleds, harness and much other farm equipment, which was burned. Three horses were in the barn and it was with much difficulty that they were able to get out of a pair of work horses out. The other two were led out with no hindrance. Of live stock only one chicken was burned. The loss is estimated to be about $2000 above the insurance. The barn was insured in the Union Mutual Fire insurance company for $800 and the crops for $250.
No one knows how the fire caught as no lantern was used in the barn that night. Mr. Exner keeps two dogs, a shepherd and a bird dog. A little before 10 o'clock they began barking, as they often did, and he tried to quiet them. At 10:15 Mr. Exner wound his clock and went to bed. At 10:45 the dogs awakened him by continued barking and he looked out of the window, seeing the light from the flames, he thought his woodlot was on fire. By that time Mrs. Exner discovered that the barn was burning. Without dressing herself, Mr. Exner ran down to the barn and found that the top of the barn over the horses was ablaze.
They telephoned to the village for help and the church bell sounded out the alarm. A large number of people went to their assistance as soon as possible, but nothing could save the building. By using very active measures the barn-houses, of which there are several, were saved. The appliances for putting out the fire were very limited.
Mr. Exner is an industrious farmer who came here with his wife and son, Alexander, from New York about nine years ago. He keeps 10 head of cattle and sells the milk to Frank Dunklee, milkman. They also carry on a large poultry business, sending the eggs to the city. Their son, Alexander, works for the S. A. Smith company. Mr. Exner says he will not rebuild until spring.
Mr. and Mrs. Exner feel very grateful to all who assisted them the night of the fire. They have the sympathy of their neighbors in their loss.
